You don't need to search high and low for an Indian in Bath, but you can't always guarantee good quality. So if you're picky about your poppadoms or choosy about your mai chai, look no further. At Eastern Eye, given a 'Best in the West' seal of approval by the Good Curry Awards 2007, you're guaranteed a good spread. With a breathtaking setting in a disused ballroom and fabulously detailed décor to boot, you'll be more than satisfied chowing down on some of the most eye-openingly great curry the city has to offer.
